FOREWORD

Mr Speaker Sir,

Following the enactment of the Pensions (Amendment) Act No.6 of 2003, I requested the State University of New York (SUNY Kenya) to assist in monitoring the implementation of the Act which came into effect on 1st January, 2004.

Mr. Speaker Sir, may I take this opportunity on behalf of the Kenya National Assembly to sincerely thank SUNY-Kenya for their extended support to this project and specifically wish to mention the support I received from the immediate former Director of SUNY-Kenya, Dr. Jesse Biddle, without whose guidance it would not have been possible for me to undertake this task. The findings of this project has clearly confirmed the need to establish a parliamentary oversight office to report on Government undertakings to this House.

My sincere thanks also go to all Honourable Members and especially those who contributed to the Bill. The Bill was passed and evolved into an Act due to the overwhelming support it received from all Members.

May, I also thank H.E. the President, the Hon. Mwai Kibaki C.G.H., M.P. who gave the needed Presidential Assent to translate the Act into law.

Finally, Mr Speaker, I wish to thank all Government Ministries and Departments who provided information that greatly facilitated the implementation of the Act. This information formed the basis of this Report without which I could not have accomplished the project.

It is my hope that the Report will trigger some action to ensure that the objectives of the Pensions (Amendment) Act are achieved, particularly in the promotion of the welfare of retiring government employees.

HON. DAVID MUSILA, M.B.S., M.P., MWINGI SOUTH/DEPUTY SPEAKER

1. INTRODUCTION

Parliament is the organ of government that is mandated and responsible for law making; oversight and deliberating on important National issues. To achieve these goals, Parliament as an institution needs to be responsive to the changing environment. The response could range from strengthening the House to enhancing the sharing of power with the Executive. Most Parliament reforms are in the form of drawing up programmes aimed at strengthening the legislature in the management and conduct of its business. In most developing democracies parliaments have been performing under an environment of uncertainty and consequently the system tends to be weak. The idea of strengthening legislature is hence to eliminate “rubberstamp” types of parliaments, to more transformative representative bodies. All these efforts are geared towards giving the citizens a voice, on one hand, and ensuring that the executive is performing its mandate on the other.

Assimilating this concept, SUNY Kenya, a research foundation whose theme in Kenya is parliamentary strengthening is committed at strengthening the Kenyan Parliament and has been carrying out different programmes to achieve this objective.

SUNY-Kenya has developed a program of assisting the establishment of an office that would enhance the oversight role of Parliament (Parliamentary Oversight Office). SUNY Kenya and Kenya National Assembly decided to monitor the implementation of Pensions Amendment Act No. 6 of 2003 as a pilot project. The Act was borne of a private Bill introduced in the year 2003 and become law effective from 1st January 2004.

The introduction of Private Bills has often elicited little support from the government side. Further, the atmosphere has not been friendly and encouraging for initiation of private bills. Consequently Members of Parliament are disadvantaged both by the Standing Orders and lack of an efficient legislative Drafting Department.

This report therefore attempts to address the need of establishing a Parliamentary Oversight Office that would be mandated to track implementation of legislations passed in the House. The paper, is designed in a style that clearly indicates the developments of the Pensions (Amendment) Act No. 6 of 2003 and the efforts made in tracking its implementation.

Hon. Members are encouraged to study the results of the project and consider establishing an oversight office in Parliament that would facilitate in tracking the implementation of decisions taken by the House. The office would, if put in place, provide information on the implementation of Motions, Bills and other undertakings given on the floor of the House.

2. GENESIS OF THE PENSIONS (AMENDMENT) ACT 6 OF 2003

The history of this particular Amendment Act dates back to 4th June 2000 when the Member of Mwingi South Constituency, the Hon. David Musila - moved a private Member's Motion in the House. The Motion urged the government to ensure that all benefits due to retirees were paid immediately upon retirement while dependant's pension was paid within three calendar months. The Motion was unanimously passed on the 5th day of July, 2002. However, the Government did little to implement the Motion despite the fact that an Assistant Minister for Finance had expressed support. One year down the line the Hon. Member took further action by moving another Private Member's Motion seeking leave of the House to introduce the Pensions (Amendment) Bill. The Member succeeded with the House unanimously passing the Motion. Although the House granted leave, two years passed before the Bill could be drafted and brought to the House. Nevertheless, with the assistance of the Attorney-General, the Pensions (Amendment) Bill was published in October 2002 but the eighth Parliament was dissolved before it could be debated.

During the ninth Parliament, the Bill was re-introduced into the House by the Hon. Musila and read for the first time on 8th April, 2003. The second reading was on 17th April, 2003. The Bill received incredible support with all members who contributed making positive contributions. Members raised several issues concerning the processing of the pensions benefits by the Directorate of Pensions. It was noted with deep concern that the manner in which the government was treating retired public servants in regard to processing their benefits caused suffering to the retired officers. There were huge delays in processing yet the payment of pension is a right and not a favour.

There was inefficiency and high level corruption that resulted in 'loss of files' of the retired officers. Emerging from the debate, most Members concluded that a large number of retired officers ended up dying before getting their benefits. Other Members were of the view that the mode of payment of benefits should be reviewed since this was done through the district treasuries and the money hardly got to the beneficiaries in good time. Members felt that the time given to the government to settle dependant's pension was too long and could be limited to only one month.

The general view of Members from both sides was that, it should be made expensive for the government for delay in processing of retirement benefits hence bring about some sense of efficiency. The payment of accruing interest on unsettled dependant's pension and retaining of officers in service until their benefits are paid was suggested as a punitive measure on the Government. The aspect of decentralization was debated and Members suggested that it would be more effective if there were pension officers at the district level so that retired officers did not have to travel to Nairobi for their benefits.

It was suggested that if there was a pensions department officer in every Ministry this would expedite paper work at the pensions department hence speed up processing and payment. The bureaucracy surrounding the processing of retirement benefits was too much and Members debated on how this could be shortened to avoid unnecessary delays. Computerization of the Department of Pensions was highlighted as necessary and an increase of staff needed as there was serious understaffing with only a third of the required number available.

3. ESTABLISHMENT OF AN OFFICE TO MONITOR THE IMPLEMENTATION OF THE PENSIONS AMENDMENT ACT NO. 6 OF 2003

The office came into effect at the end of February 2004 under the initiative of the Honourable Deputy Speaker. It was established to monitor and report on the implementation status of the Pensions Amendment Act No. 6 of 2003. The responsibility of the office was to track changes that Ministries have instituted in implementing the Amendment as proposed in the first schedule of the Pensions Act (Cap) 189.

The office of the Deputy Speaker posted an advertisement inviting information from civil servants: retired civil servants, the ones retiring in the year 2004 as well as information on dependants claiming dependant's pension. The response was massive with hundreds of retired civil servants claiming that their applications had not been processed for more than two years. Given the amount of information received, an electronic data base was established to maintain the respondents' information as a necessary tool for tracking the implementation of the Act as well as for easy retrieval and follow-up of retirement claims. One of the objectives of establishing this office was to identify the policy position at the different Ministries and departments. It was imperative to develop a technique that would not only help track the implementation status of the Act but also facilitate information about the loopholes and flaws of the Act in relation to its implementation. The technique developed was manifested in a system that would make a comparative analysis of the operations pertaining to the processing of pensions and receipt of complaints from claimants. Time lag was taken as a major component of interpretation of the result and the basis of measurement.

For operative purposes, the office incorporated measures that would facilitate a proper tracking of progress in the implementation of the Act, those included:

- Drawing up Ministry by Ministry follow-up to ascertain the measures taken to conform to the new law. This was done through requesting information about retired officers in the 2002 & 2003 and the ones retiring in the 2004.
- Making an in-depth analysis on the cases processed in the last two years while comparing them with the pending applications. A further analysis would be done with reference to the processed applications during the year 2004 vis-à-vis the increase in the number of retirees since the Act was enacted.
- Making a comparison of the data from the Ministries with the one that emanated from affected pensioners and dependants.

The requested information from Ministries and Departments was also considered as a way in which to establish the adjustments and policy changes done at the Ministries in compliance with the implementation of the Pensions (Amendment) Act No.6 of 2003. The key information used to make conclusive analysis would be that of officers who retired in 2003 and the officers retiring in 2004. This is important because the information would reflect the cases pending in 2003 and whether the cases of the retiring officers in 2004 have been prepared in readiness for forwarding to the Director of pensions. At this juncture then, the issue would be to make a follow-up with the Director of Pensions to ensure that the forwarded files are processed and paid out to the pensioners and the dependants on time.

4 DATA ANALYSIS

The data and information within the project was broadly categorized in three major components:-

- I. Officers who have already retired and have not yet received their pensions
- II. Officers retiring during the year 2004
- III. Dependants who have not been paid dependant's pension

This information formed the bulk of complaints cases which continued to be received from the inception of the project.

In order to track the implementation of the Act, data on the affected persons was needed so as to form the basis of comparative analysis. This information was vital since the compliance could only be tracked based on unpaid retirement claims. The information of unsettled retirement claims established the platform to pursue Ministries to settle the claims. The information received was arranged and categorized to facilitate an analysis on compliance.

As to the process of initiating pension claim it was noted that once an officer retires, his/her file is processed and forwarded to the Treasury, Pensions Department for payment. Once the file gets there a number is allocated (APN/PC) that confirms the commencement of processing.

4.1 METHODOLOGY

The data compiled needed an analytical approach so as to clearly give a picture of implementation of the Pensions (Amendment) Act no. 6 of 2003. The data available emanated from, information received from the Ministries and Departments, the Pensions Department and from the affected retired officers. The analysis of data was carried out with a view to establish the position of all the complaints received from officers who had retired and not been paid their dues. Similarly it was important to know what Ministries were doing to ensure retirement claims for the year 2004 are processed in good time.

The key feature here was to resolve the unsettled claims with a view to mainstreaming the processing of pensions benefits. The approach therefore was first to get all the retirement claims for the years 2002, 2003 and 2004. Having compiled a data bank for all this information, a comparative survey was done. The survey involved assessing the processed and the paid out claims against complaints received for the years 2002 and 2003. For the retirement claims of 2004 the analysis focused on the processed claims ready for forwarding to the Treasury.

The data on retired officers whom the APN/PC number had been allocated was sent out to the Directorate of Pensions. This was to confirm the position of the claims and also get an indication of when the claims would be paid.

The data on the retired officers whom the APN/PC had not been allocated was sent out to the Ministries/Department as a way of facilitating preparation of these claims.

4.2 COMPLIANCE ASSESSMENT

The level of compliance by the Ministries and Departments is measurable in terms of accessing unsettled claims in comparison to the prepared ones. The rating from the top; is a Ministry that has fully prepared all the retirement claims of the years 2002 & 2003.

From the bottom, low levels of compliance characterized by pending unsettled retirement claims at the Ministry.

Similarly, the Ministry went ahead and prepared the retirement claims for 2004 ready for forwarding to the Directorate of Pensions for processing and payment.

Compliance Formula

The formula is simple; a case where all the claims of past retired officers are forwarded to the Director of Pension plus preparation of 2004 claims – represent high level of compliance. Low compliance is represented by a deficit of the unsettled retirement claims for past retired officers coupled by unprepared claims for the officers retiring during the year 2004.

5 DATA PRESENTATION

An analysis was carried out to illustrate the measures taken by the different Ministries to comply with the Act. This analysis was based on the information gathered from the Ministries as well as what was received at the office in the form of complaints from unpaid retired officers. The analysis was highly dependant on how detailed the information from the Ministry was. Some ministries did not send detailed information on the status of the retirement claims hence no conclusive analysis could be carried out. In extreme cases, some Ministries did not respond and gave little information on the status of pension claims.

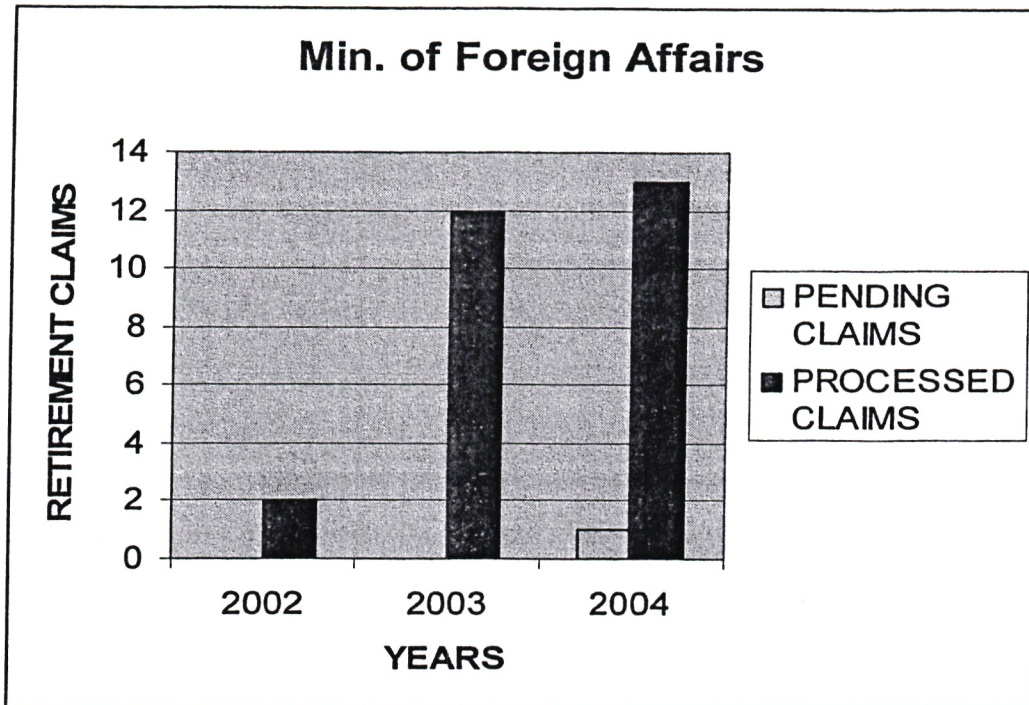

The analysis is therefore categorized in three groups with respect to:

- a) Conclusive analysis – for the ministries that provided detailed information on retirement claims.
- b) Partial analysis – information provided but not showing status of the retirement claims
- c) No analysis – ministries that declined to provide information on the retirement claims

5.1 MINISTERIAL PROFILE – CONCLUSIVE ANALYSIS

The following is a statistical expression portraying compliance by the Ministries which provided detailed information on the retirement claims. (Appendix I the list containing names and personal numbers per Ministry.)

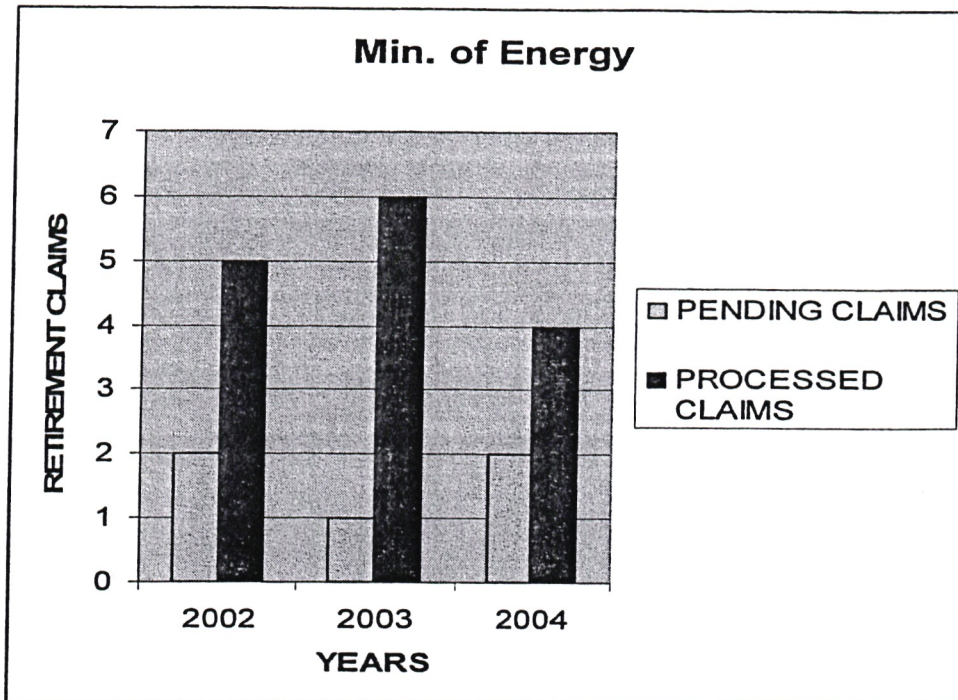

5.1.1 MINISTRY OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

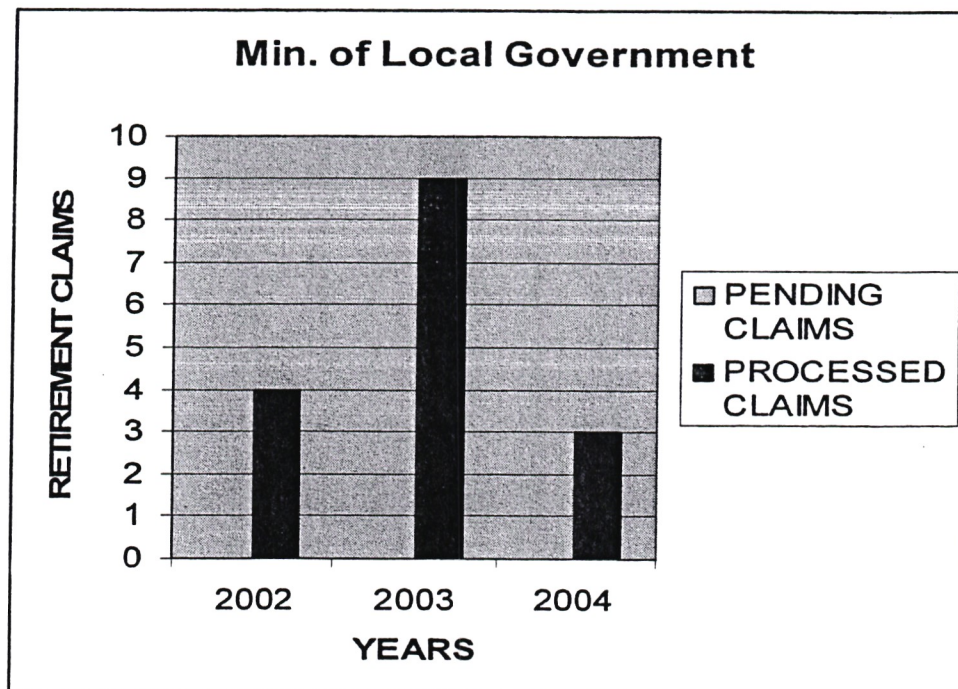

5.1.2 MINISTRY OF LABOUR AND HUMAN RESOURCE DEVELOPMENT

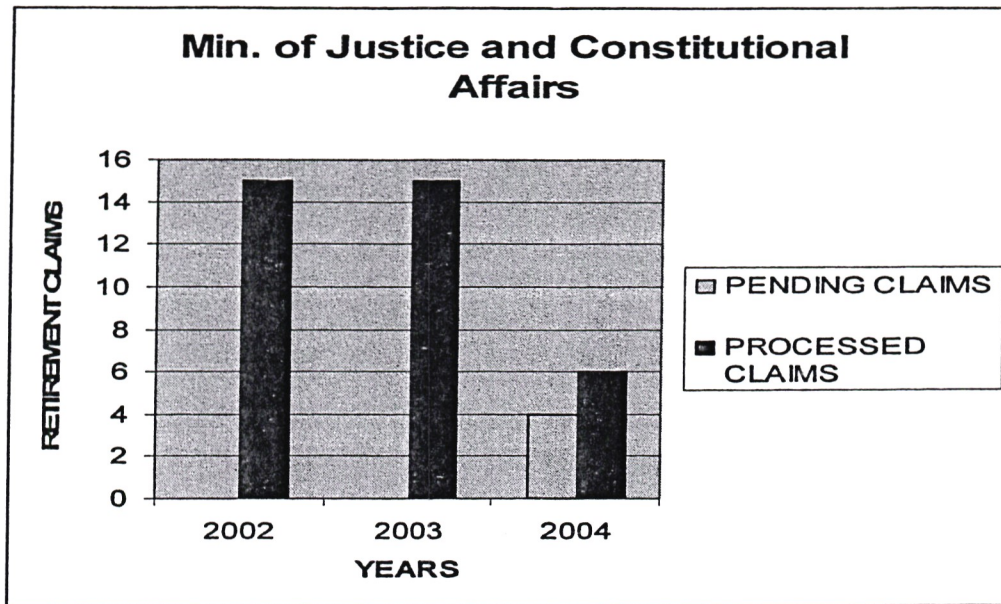

5.1.3 MINISTRY OF ENERGY

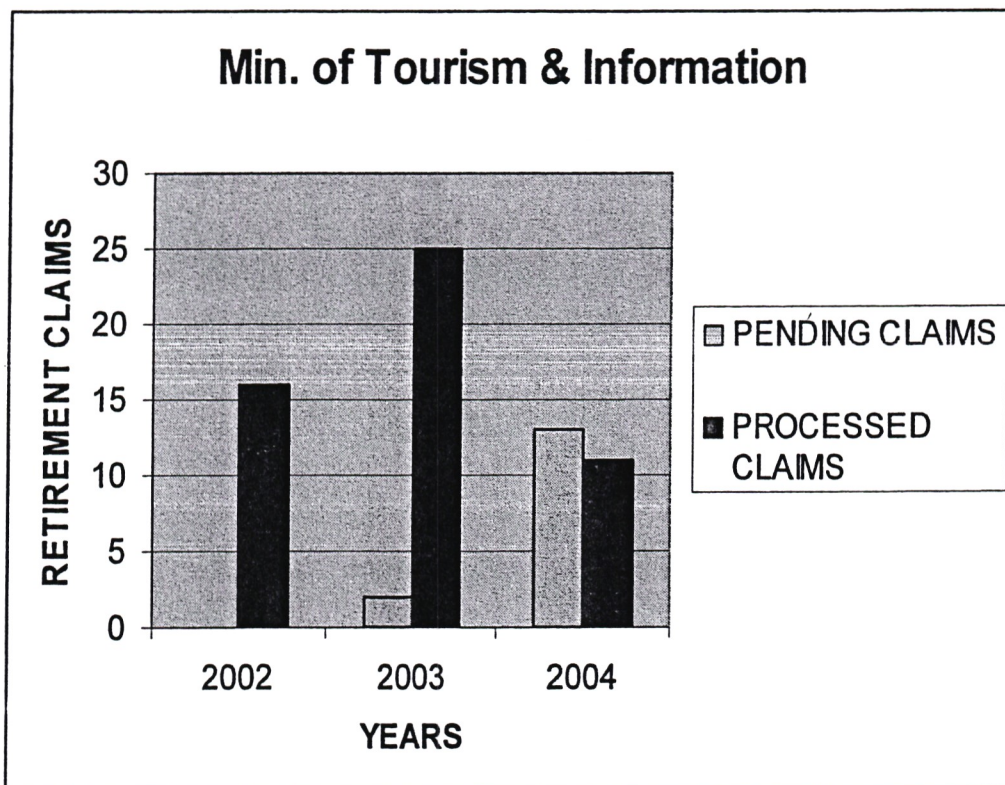

5.1.4 MINISTRY OF LOCAL GOVERNMENT

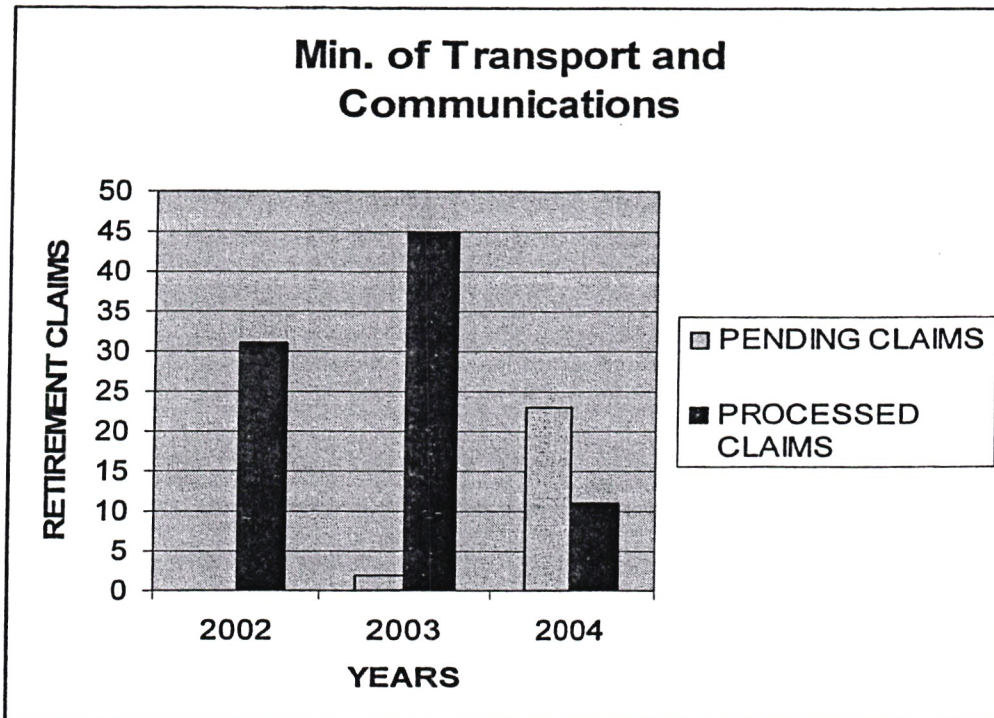

5.1.5 MINISTRY OF JUSTICE AND CONSTITUTIONAL AFFAIRS

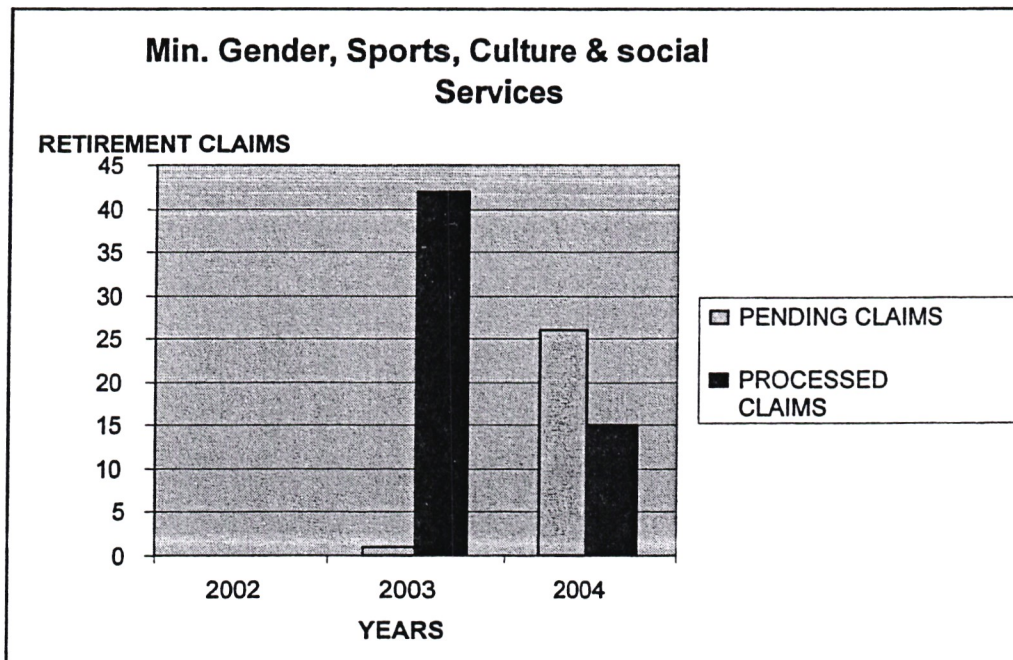

5.1.6 MINISTRY OF TOURISM AND INFORMATION

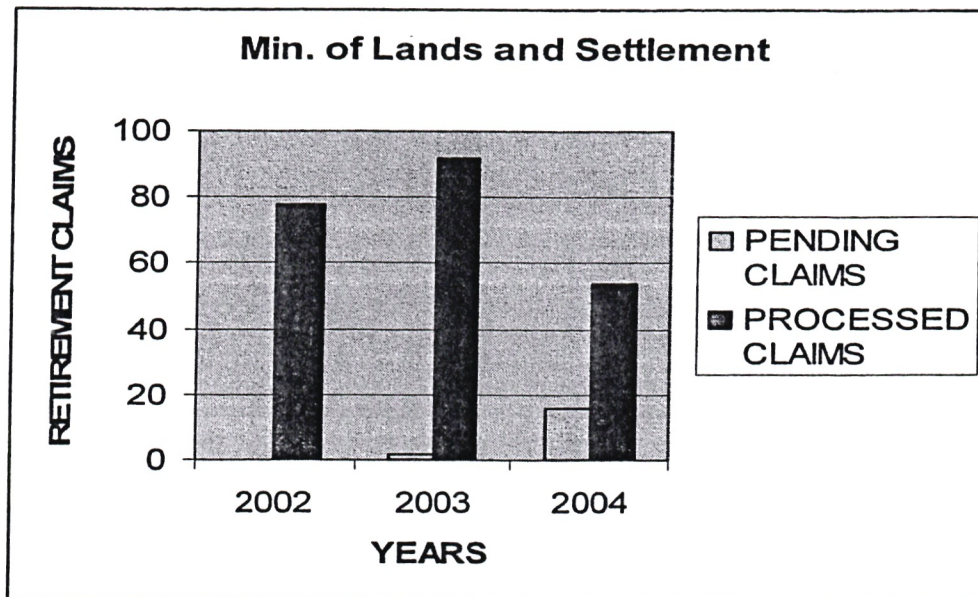

5.1.7 MINISTRY OF TRANSPORT AND COMMUNICATIONS

5.1.8 MINISTRY OF GENDER, SPORTS, CULTURE AND SOCIAL SERVICES

5.1.9 MINISTRY OF LANDS AND SETTLEMENT

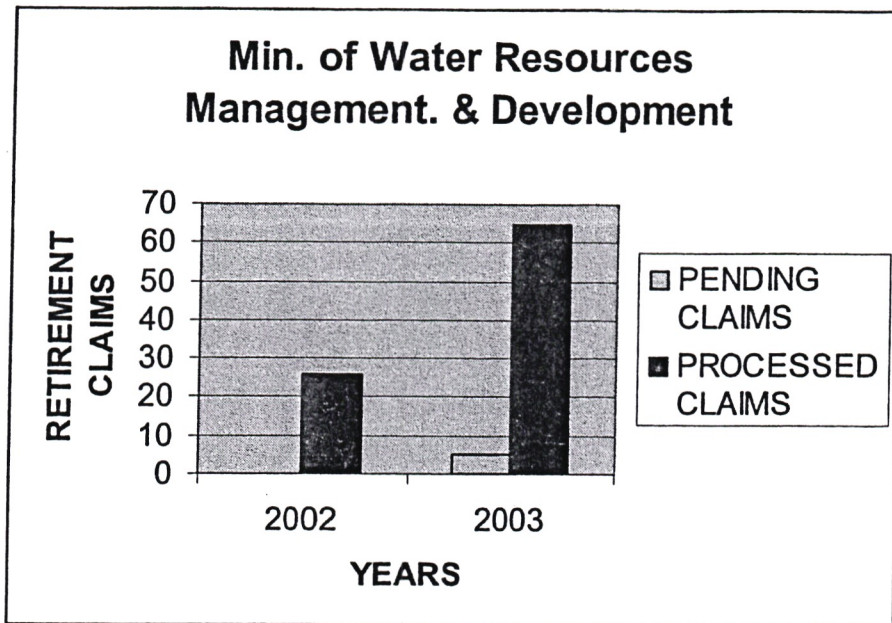

5.2 MINISTERIAL PROFILE – PARTIAL ANALYSIS

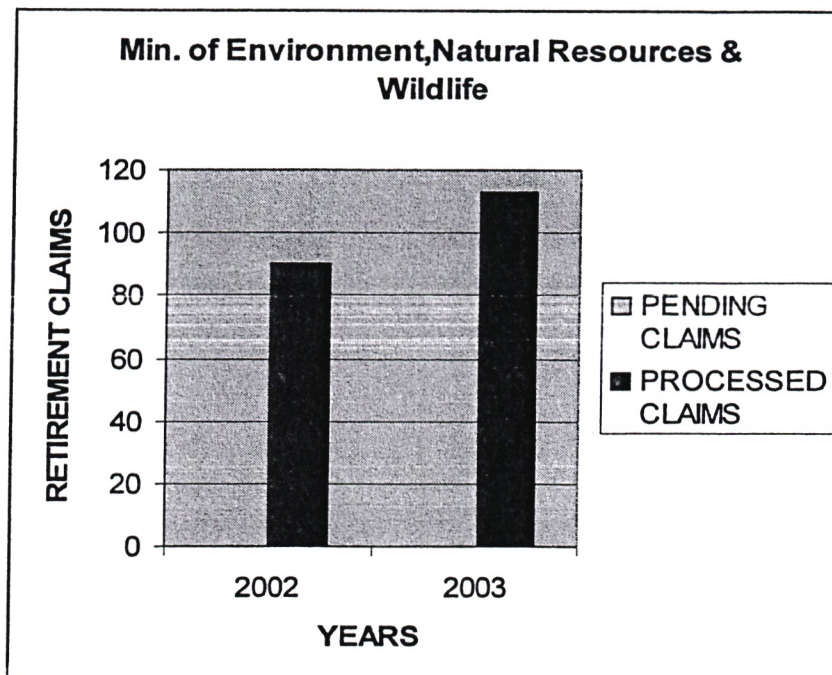

Some Ministries did respond to the request for information on retirement claims but the information for example provided was not detailed enough to carry out conclusive analysis. The information did not indicate the status of the retirement claims in terms of whether or not prepared in readiness to forwarding to the Director of pensions.

Consequently, the analysis had to be based on the complaints received which had been sent by the retired unpaid officers. This analysis therefore excludes the year 2004 retirees since no complaint cases for this particular year were received. (See appendix II the list showing names and personal numbers.)

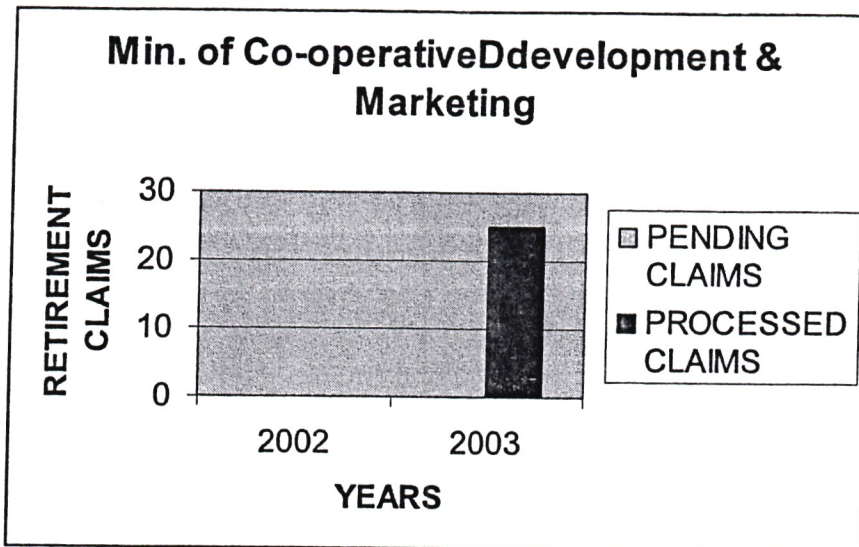

5.2.1 MINISTRY OF WATER RESOURCES MANAGEMENT AND DEVELOPMENT

5.2.2 MINISTRY OF ENVIRONMENT, NATURAL RESOURCES AND WILDLIFE

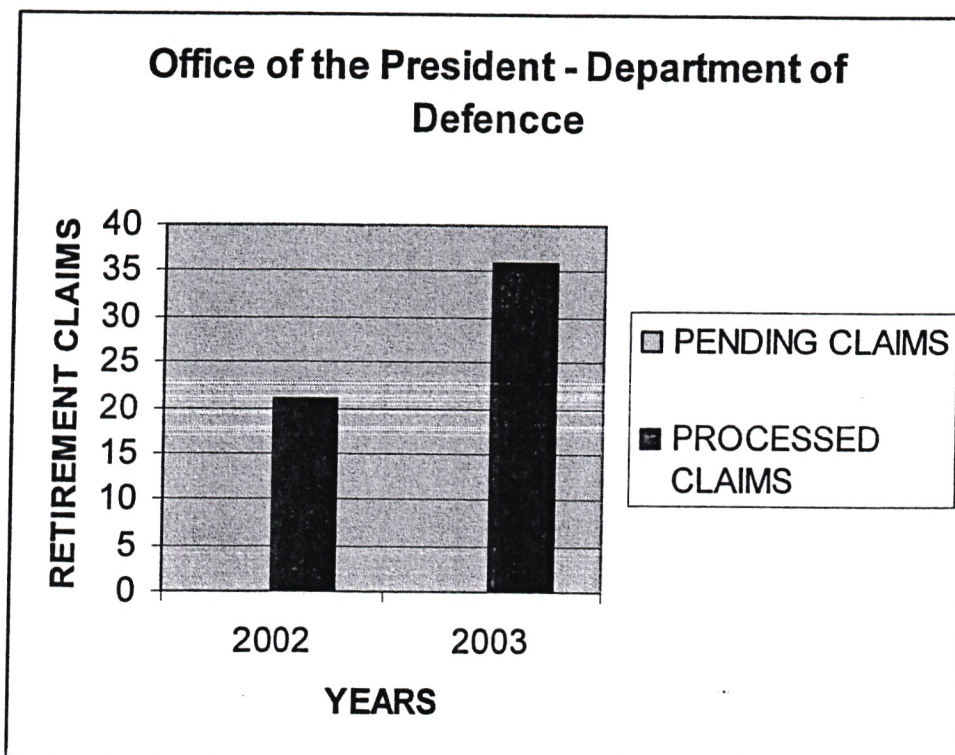

5.2.3 MINISTRY OF COOPERATIVE DEVELOPMENT AND MARKETING

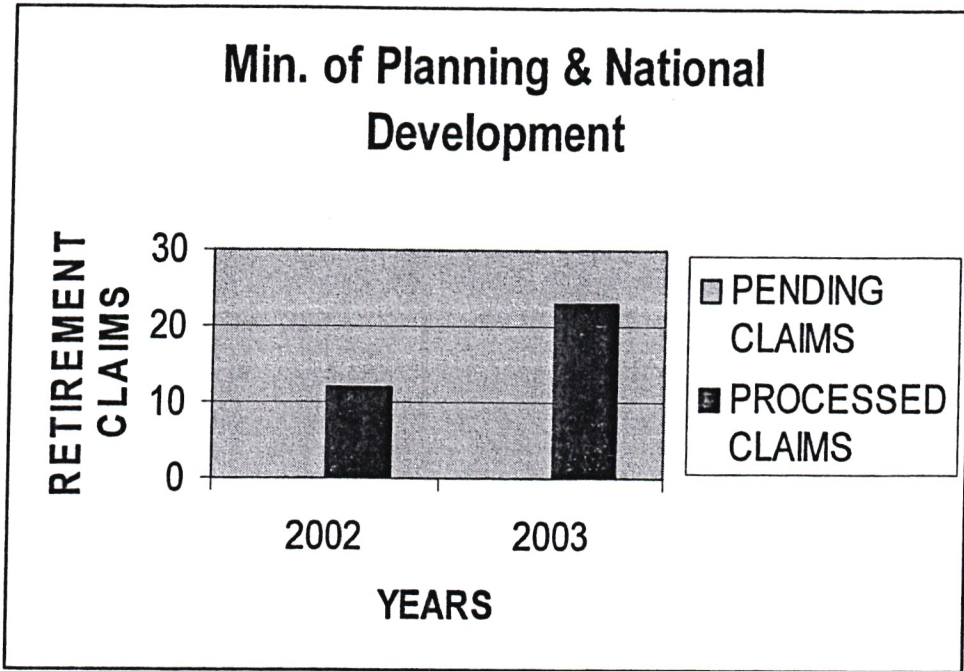

NB: The Ministry was reconstituted in the year as such no claims for the year 2002

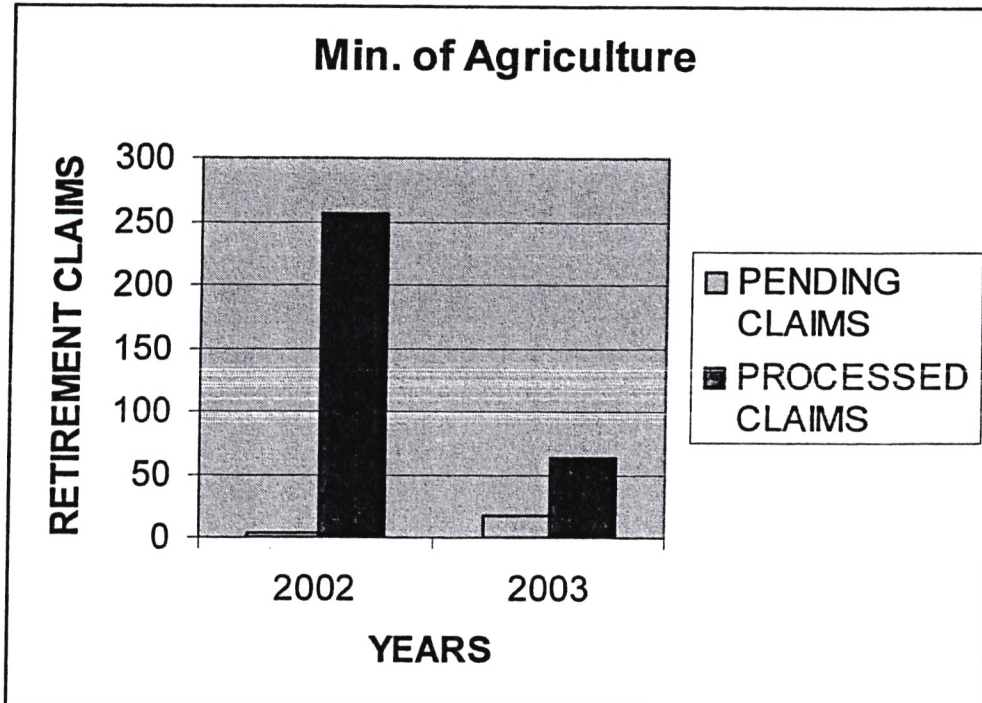

5.2.4 OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT – DEPARTMENT OF DEFENCE

5.2.5 MINISTRY OF PLANNING AND NATIONAL DEVELOPMENT

5.2.6 MINISTRY OF AGRICULTURE

5.3 NON COMPLIANCE

Some Ministries and Departments declined to provide the information we had requested concerning the retirement claims. Following this anomaly, it was difficult to carry out any analysis on the Ministries since there would be no base. The table below shows the Ministries and departments where the letters requesting information on retirees were sent. Further, the table illustrates those who complied and the ones who did not.

Ministries & Departments	Responded	Not Responded
Ministry of Agriculture	Yes
Ministry of Co-operative Development	Yes

6 WAY FORWARD

6.1 OUTPUT

The project has achieved tangible result in enhancing the role of oversight of Parliament. Whereas the Government was initially unwilling to implement the Act; the creation of an oversight office would have a great impact in making executive responsive to issues raised in the House.

The attached appendices illustrate that Pensions (Amendment) Act No. 6 of 2003 is indeed being implemented. The information flowing from the Ministries indicates that the objectives of the Act in matters of good governance are being addressed. (Appendices III & IV)

6.2 CONCLUSION

To enhance oversight of Parliament, the project should have been in a position to make a follow-up on the claims till payments are made. This can be done by a way of ensuring that claims are followed from the point of entry to the Directorate of Pensions till payment. This of course demands resources and an established institutional support framework.

In conclusion it is recommended that Parliament sets up an institutional framework through its rules of procedure (Standing Orders) to monitor and evaluate the implementation of resolutions, undertakings and legislations passed by the House.

To this end, the re-introduction of an Implementation committee that was first established in 1979 should be given top priority. The experience of the Commonwealth Parliaments such as India and Zambia indicate that a Committee of this nature greatly augments the oversight role of Parliament.
