Mr. Speaker, Sir,

The mandate of this Departmental Committee, therefore, covered the following Ministries;-

- (i) The Office of the President and specifically the department incharge of national defence.

- (iii) The Ministry of East African and Regional Co-operation

Mr. Speaker, Sir,

When the Committee met for the first time on 23rd July, 1998, it generally became apparent that although there were many issues under its purview which were yearning for attention, the consideration of the Draft Treaty for the Establishment of the East African Community, which had just been laid in this House, was of utmost priority.

Consequently, the Committee held a total of thirty-one sittings during which time the members went through the Draft Treaty Article by Article at considerable detail, in the process eliciting heated, albeit interesting discussions, the result of which are the proposals I am presenting to the House today.

Mr. Speaker, Sir,

Allow me to take this early opportunity to recognize the significance of the reports of the forums convened to discuss the Draft Treaty, namely:

- (i) The East African Co-operation meeting of Speakers of the National Assemblies held at Arusha, Tanzania between 4th - 5th June, 1998.
- (ii) The Workshop at Kenya School of Monetary Studies at Ruaraka, Nairobi between 24 - 25th September, 1998 which was organized by the Ministry of East African and Regional Co-operation.
- (iii) The East African Co-operation meeting of Speakers of the National Assemblies held at Arusha, Tanzania between 18th - 19th May, 1999.

The input of these meetings in the treaty making process cannot be ignored and the Committee found their proposals useful. Infact, Chapter Twenty Four on Standardisation, Metrology, Quality Assurance, Quality Management and Accreditation has been completely re-written as recommended by experts drawn from the three Bureaux of Standards of Kenya, Uganda and Tanzania during their sectoral meeting in May, 1998.

The Committee invited and exchanged views on the Treaty with officials from various Ministries. In this respect, I would like to thank Hon. K.N.K. Biwott, E.G.H., M.P. - Minister for East African and Regional Co-operation and Hon. J.J. Kamotho, E.G.H., M.P. - Minister for Trade, for their valuable contribution.

Last but not least, may I also express my gratitude to the Secretariat from the Clerk's Chambers who played a crucial role in organizing the Committee meetings by securing the venue and facilities required, taking the Minutes and the recommendations which culminated into the production of this report.

1. The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. This is essential for ensuring the integrity of the financial statements and for providing a clear audit trail. The records should be kept up-to-date and should be easily accessible to all relevant parties.

2. The second part of the document outlines the procedures for handling incoming payments. It is important to ensure that all payments are recorded promptly and accurately. This includes verifying the amount and the source of the payment, and ensuring that the appropriate accounts are credited.

3. The third part of the document describes the process for issuing invoices. Invoices should be issued promptly and accurately, and should clearly state the amount due and the terms of payment. It is also important to keep a record of all invoices issued, and to follow up on any outstanding payments.

4. The fourth part of the document discusses the importance of reconciling the accounts. This involves comparing the records of the business with the statements of the banks and other financial institutions. This process helps to identify any discrepancies and to ensure that the records are accurate.

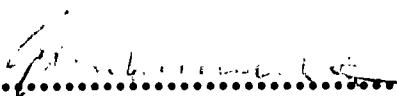

5. The fifth part of the document outlines the procedures for preparing the financial statements. This includes calculating the profit or loss for the period, and preparing the balance sheet and the cash flow statement. It is important to ensure that the statements are prepared accurately and in accordance with the relevant accounting standards.

6. The sixth part of the document describes the process for reviewing the financial statements. This involves checking the statements for accuracy and completeness, and ensuring that they provide a true and fair view of the financial position of the business. It is also important to discuss the statements with the relevant parties and to obtain their approval.

7. The seventh part of the document discusses the importance of archiving the financial records. This involves keeping the records for a period of time that is specified by the relevant laws and regulations. It is important to ensure that the records are stored securely and that they are easily accessible when needed.

8. The eighth part of the document outlines the procedures for handling any queries or disputes. This involves responding promptly and accurately to any queries, and resolving any disputes in a fair and reasonable manner. It is important to keep a record of all queries and disputes, and to ensure that they are resolved in a timely and effective manner.

Mr. Speaker, Sir, for the benefit of Members, it is necessary to note that the Articles which do not appear in the report were adopted by the Committee in their original form.
